

To mark a square, read a book that meets the criteria in the square that you have not read in the past. A book can only be used to mark one square. For example, if you read Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone, you could mark "The first book in the series" or "A sci-fi or fantasy book", but not both. Fill in the Title and Author for each book to show which square you are marking for that book.

To get a "bingo", get five squares in a row: across (horizontal), down (vertical), or diagonally. A square can be used in more than one "bingo". For example, you can use the center square for both diagonal lines, the center vertical line, and the center horizontal lines; the same book gets counted in four "bingos".

Complete one presentation in the program/app of your choice (Prezi, Powerpoint, Powtoon, etc).

The presentation must include the reviews of your favorite fiction choice and your favorite non-fiction choice (two books!). 6th graders submit to Mrs. Lopez (ilopez@stjamesmiami.net), 5th graders submit to Ms. George (tgeorge@stjamesmiami.net). All presentation are due the first day of school.

 When you see the camera icon, email your teacher a photo of the food you prepared or of yourself reading to the family member.
